

Crippling Storm Continues March Across U.S.

Central Plains Target

By United Press International
A storm center that spread crippling snow and ice in scatter - shot fashion through the Southwest rebounded northeastward today toward the Central Plains.

The freezing rains and drizzle glazed highways and communications lines in portions of Oklahoma and Nebraska marking the advance of the cold front. Portions of Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska and Missouri were cautioned against freezing, sleet and drizzle that was expected to ice highways.

THE STORM LEFT behind record-breaking snowfalls in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona that isolated cities, closed highways and snapped communication lines. At least 11 deaths were blamed on the icy siege.

In the North, cold air poured across the Canadian border touching off snowstorms and sub-zero temperatures as far south as Indiana and east to New England.

ON STORM-ROCKED Lake Superior, the Canadian grain ship Starbelle limped toward safe harbor in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. Coast Guard reports said the ship, with 21 persons aboard, had sealed three cracks in her iron plating and was making eight knots headway.

In the Southwest, snow flurries continued through the morning. Jacob Lake, north of Grand Canyon, Ariz., reported 37 inches of snow on the ground; Socorro, N.M., 17 inches, and Tumacacari, and Roswell, N.M., a foot.

AT EL PASO, Tex., where a blizzard Friday marooned the city's 270,000 residents and scores of tourists, the sun broke through in the late afternoon to melt most of the eight-inch snow. Highway police reported all Texas roads were open, but dangerous ice still covered highways in the western half of the state.

Pre-dawn snow fell in the south and central Rockies and the Southern Plateau, while showers ranged the Gulf Coast from Florida to eastern

Five Crewmen Reach Safety

BARRE, Vt. — Man raced nature today in a rugged wilderness hunt for the missing crewman of a crashed Stratoforress. Eight crewmen were aboard the eight-jet B52 that fell and blew up "like shrapnel" Friday night in a ravine of the Snowy Green Mountains.

Five fought their way out of woods at Schron Lake, N. Y., 50 miles from the crash in this Vermont community.

DRIVERS TOLD ACCIDENT JUMP, CAUTION ASKED

Appealing this week to motorists to use added caution during the holiday season, Palm Springs Safety Council cited an accident comparison between 1959 and 1960 which shows this year ahead by 12.

Up to this date in 1959 there were 178 accidents, and so far this year 190, officials said.

Narcotics Meet Gets Brown Plan

Governor Edmund G. Brown addressed the second annual Narcotics Officers' Association conference here Friday afternoon, calling on the law enforcement officers from around the state to add their suggestions and comments to the recommendations of the Special Study Commission on Narcotics which the Governor had received scant hours before arriving here.

Governor Brown assured the conference of his unstinting support in the war against the narcotics traffic — both supply and addiction. He pledged recommendations to the Legislature "for their most careful study and appraisal."

"IN CALIFORNIA, we want and need results," the Governor asserted. He continued that "this creeping nightmare is too dangerous, too widespread, too close to our children to allow us to rush through any hasty, ill-considered measures which might touch the surface but not at all come to grips with the real problems."

The Governor explained that he had not placed the narcotics problem on the agenda of the last special session because the administration had lacked "a position paper on all facets of the narcotics problem in California."

The Governor departed from his prepared text to explain to the law officers that "people think, rightly, that a man's home is his castle."

HE EMPHASIZED THAT suspicion search of a home where narcotics use was suspected — without warrants — would be dangerous infringement on Constitutional rights. But he pledged continued support for tightening anti-narcotics law, and explained that Federal officers worked under restrictions of civil rights successfully.

The Governor declined to preview his legislative recommendations, stating "the Legislature is entitled to hear me first, and they will."

He returned to his text to point out that the special commission is still working, will continue detailed investigations prior to the actual

VIOLENCE ERUPTS IN ALGERIA

ROY W. COLEGATE SUCCUMBS HERE

Roy W. Colegate, prominent attorney and active in civic, business and city affairs here for the past 25 years, succumbed last night at Desert Hospital after having suffered an attack at his home at approximately 7:30 p.m.

Following the attack at his home at 1155 Camino Centro, he was revived by a Frie Department resuscitator and rushed to Desert Hospital. He died soon afterward.

COLEGATE SERVED as city attorney for Palm Springs from the time of incorporation in 1935 to 1953, when he resigned due to city business taking too much time away from his own practice.

Born in St. Louis, Mo., in 1906, he came to California at a young age. He was graduated from Loyola University in 1928 with a Bachelor of Law degree and started private practice in Los Angeles.

IN 1935 HE joined the law firm of Sarau and Thompson in Riverside, and came to Palm Springs when the firm opened an office here about that time.

He became a member of the firm of Sarau, Thompson and Colegate and for a time maintained a home both in Riverside and Palm Springs. In 1945 the firm became Thompson and Colegate, which it is at the present time.

He was active in various civic, service and fraternal organizations, and was a past president of the Palm Springs Lions Club.

ROY W. COLEGATE

SURVIVORS INCLUDE his widow, Sally; two daughters, Caroline and Cathy; his father, Fred Colegate of Alhambra; one brother, Laurence Colegate of Alhambra, and a sister, Mrs. Eugene Gaffney of Arcadia.

Funeral services are scheduled at 11 a.m. Monday, at St. Paul's in the Desert Episcopal Church, with the Rev. Frederick Barnhill officiating. Wiefels and Son Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

The family has requested that memorial contributions may be made to the Tribute Fund of St. Paul's in the Desert.

Beheading Danger Said 'Lessening'

U. N. Ethiopian Troops Protect European Whites

LEOPOLDVILLE — United Nations officials said today the danger to Europeans was "lessening" in Stanleyville where U. N. Ethiopian troops were protecting whites against the threat of beheading by pro-Lumumba forces. Stanleyville strongman Bernard Salumu threatened Friday to arrest all Belgians, there and decapitate some unless army chief Col. Joseph Mobutu freed deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba from an army jail.

HIS DEADLINE expired today but there were no reports of arrests or savagery.

More than 100 Europeans, most of them Belgians, flocked to a school guarded by Ethiopian troops when it became clear Mobutu had no intention of bowing to the ultimatum. The swift U. N. action appeared to have calmed down the leftist Stanleyville politicians.

THE U. N. SPOKESMAN said Ethiopian Brig. Mengasha Iyasou, chief of staff at U. N. headquarters who flew to Stanleyville to direct troop operations, consulted with the provincial leaders who have 500 gendarmes under their control.

Despite belief a reign of terror could be avoided in Stanleyville consular representatives of eight Western countries including American Consul Robert Mellvain flew there today to look after their nationals' interest. Some American missionaries are believed in Stanleyville.

The black Ethiopian soldiers were under orders to use force if necessary to protect the 2,000 Europeans in Oriental Province, the Lumumba stronghold where troops loyal to the ex-premier were reported making a whole-sale roundup of whites.

Dillon Denies Post Offer

WASHINGTON — Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon said today he has "not been offered a position" in President-elect John Kennedy's administration.

Dillon, in a statement made through an assistant, said he had read news stories "speculating" that he had been offered a post by Kennedy.

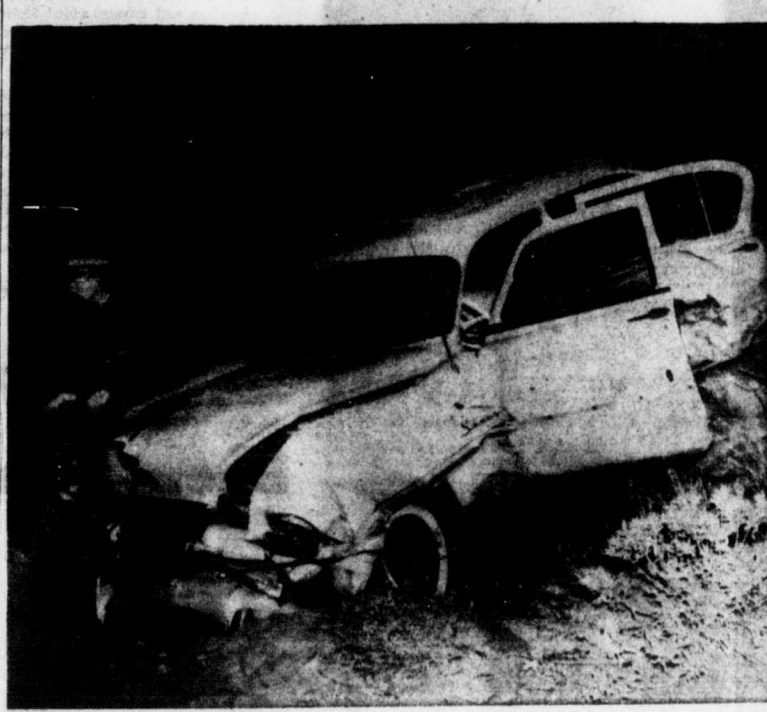

Four in Cuba Given Death

HAVANA — A revolutionary tribunal today sustained the death sentences imposed on four anti-Castro plotters who tried to hijack a plane, and they faced immediate execution by a firing squad.

GOV. EDMUND G. BROWN spoke to second annual conference of Narcotics Officers' Association in Riviera Hotel Friday, pledging full administrative support in fight against narcotic traffic. Reviewing Southern California problems with Governor Brown were,

MAJOR INJURIES were sustained by a Kansas couple early today when their car careened out of control on Highway 111 near Palm Desert and crashed into a mountain side. Injured were William C. and Dorothy Ruth, 51 and 34, of Alberte, Kansas. Ruth, driver of the car, was cited by the California Highway Patrol for drunk driving, and both were treated at Casita Hospital in Indio. (P. S. Newsphoto)

Newspapers Surging Ahead, Forum Agrees

American newspapers are moving into a "new era" in which economic pressures will spur the imaginative publications to new and greater heights and shove the plodders into obscurity or out of business.

That's the net sum of an hour-long symposium on the status of U. S. newspapers conducted by the Desert Press Club at Palm Springs in the Biltmore Hotel here last night.

FOUR PUBLISHERS and editors sat on the panel, moderated by Jerry Brittingham, Press Club vice president. Included were Max Wihnyk, publisher of the Banning Record; Carl Schooss, publisher of the Palm Springs Desert Sun; Howard Hays, Jr., editor of the Riverside Press-Enterprise; and Phil Ault, executive editor of the Indio News.

TRANSLATOR TV CHECKS 'TROUBLE'

Translator Television, scheduled to add Channel 6 on a full time basis today, has reported that strange interference has suddenly developed on the signal from XETV, Tijuana, and that the FCC has been asked for assistance in locating the interference.

Hoffman Sales Corporation, division of Hoffman Electronics, which is installing equipment for the new channel, said that the interference came on suddenly. The incoming signal, as originally surveyed, was clear of outside interference over the past six months, according to the recorded tests, and also was clear of interference when rebroadcasting and testing began recently over the air, according to Frank Bennett, Translator president.

Extensive tests are now being made to locate the cause of the interference, Bennett said, and special equipment will be used to secure a fix on the direction and area causing the trouble, a method that is similar to that used by the government in tracking down unlicensed radio signals.

Bennett said that it is believed that the signal interference is probably caused by some transmitting equipment or radiation in the area, and expects to be able to clear it up in the near future.

Western Village Mobile Ranch Sets Opening

Western Village Mobile Ranch will officially open to the public next week, but pre-opening ceremonies have been set by owners Arthur Press and Warren Coble for today and tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The new development caters to mobile home living for senior citizens, and is located in the Palm Springs Oasis area two miles west of the city limits on Highway 111.

The park will be operated year-round and is contained on 19 1/2 acres. A total of 141 spaces are individually fenced and have 110 and 120 volt electric connections, telephone, free TV from Translator, mail delivery, and trees.

A complete kitchen and recreation hall provide space for square and round dancing and creative shops, and display rooms will be provided to show products done in the creative activities shop.

STUDENTS MAY SEEK JOBS FREE WITH SUN ADS

High school students who wish to get jobs during the Christmas vacation may run advertisements under "Situations Wanted" in The Desert Sun free, starting Monday, Wanda Kennedy, classified manager announced today.

The ads must be 15 words or less, and be in the Desert Sun office prior to 11 a.m. for insertion in the following day's paper.

The Sun feels that this feature will be of service both to residents who wish part time help of the type students can give, and to the students themselves.

Fighting In Street Reported

ORLEANSVILLE, Algeria (UPI)—Violent fighting broke out tonight between Moslems and Europeans shortly before President Charles de Gaulle arrived to press his plans for a semi-independent Algeria.

Scores of riot police charged in between the rival factions in this city 100 miles southwest of Algiers to restore order before the president arrived in a motorcade shortly before dusk.

VIOLENCE ALSO erupted between Moslems and Europeans in the port city of Oran. Mayor Rene Mekki told the United Press International the situation there was "very grave." Two Moslems were killed, first fatalities of two days of Algerian violence.

In Algiers, army tanks and armored cars firing tear gas bombs and noise grenades drove back thousands of French settlers who marched on the governor's palace to protest De Gaulle's plans. At least 100 persons were reported injured.

IN ORLEANSVILLE, Moslems who could control the country if De Gaulle's plans were carried out were emboldened by his presence.

"The ultras (settler extremists) to the stake!" they yelled. "Vive De Gaulle. Vive Algerian Algeria." De Gaulle earlier today visited the Cherbelle Infantry School 80 miles west of Algiers where he pleaded for army support in his plans to create a semi-independent Algeria. Moslems there cheered him. The Europeans booed.

De Gaulle told fledgling army officers "I am counting on the army, on its faith and discipline." It was apparent he would need it to carry out his plans for tens of thousands of colonials rioted against it in Algiers and the other major cities of Algeria for the second day.

Highway Crash Injures One

PALM DESERT — One person suffered minor injuries in a head-on - sideswipe accident at Highway 111 and 74 just before midnight last night, California Highway Patrol reported.

Frank Unger, 62, of Sun Valley, Idaho, a passenger in an automobile driven by Dick Moon, 61, of Del Mar, suffered minor injuries. Driver of the other car was Edith Peavlar, 18, of Palm Springs.

Cargo Recovery To Be Attempted

VANDENBERG A. F. B., Calif. — Ships and Air Force planes today attempt to recover a "hot" cargo of living human tissue and tiny plants expected to hurtle back from space in a Discoverer satellite capsule.

ON MONDAY AGENDA

Board to Have 6 Desert Items

Only six items of special interest to the Desert area are listed on the agenda for the Board of Supervisors at its meeting at 9 a.m., Monday, in the Riverside County courthouse.

Included is one public hearing at 10 a.m., on an application of Alan Isern to change zone of property in the Cathedral City-Palm Desert District.

Other items include a recommendation on a request relating to a drainage along Cahuilla Highway near Anza; a recommendation to extend Indian Avenue northward to Twenty-nine Palm Road in Morongo Canyon; an ordinance relating to zoning in Bermuda Dunes District.

The board also will hear a report of the parks superintendent on a request of the Idyllwild County Water District for an easement for a well, and receive a petition for installation of a light at the intersection of 1st Street and Ocotillo Avenue in Desert Hot Springs.

FOREST OF POLES on the Palm Desert frontage road—to be renamed—on the southside of Highway 111 through the growing resort community, is caught in palette colors of famed artist Heiner Grimm as his pert bride Gerde lends a helpful hand in whittling down the big telephone poles which are being moved south of the business buildings facing the highway. Board of supervisors received bids for paving the frontage road from Highway 74 to Deep Canyon Road, with parking on northside of 30 foot roadway. Local people will pay for curbs and gutters. (Desert Sun Photo)

County Building $13-Million Shy Of 1959 Totals

With Riverside County running $13,892,000 behind last year in the total building permit valuation for the first 11 months of the year, the November valuation for both the areas north and south of Palm Springs were reported at $878,456.

The total figure includes 57 single family dwellings, valued at $756,526; one two - family unit at $11,724; one commercial building at $6,928; 27 other building at $32,108, and 79 miscellaneous permits at $71,210.

Indio area took out a total of $1,098,860 in building permits during November — helped considerably by a permit for new living quarters at the Indio Fire Department — valued at $9,875.

A Metropolitan Water District dwelling and garage added $9,976 to the Palm Springs area permits.

Brittingham's carefully worded questions — directed to individual panel members — brought candid (and often vigorous) replies from the panelists.

Handled in the discussion were such topics as the use of opinion in news stories, the lack of competition among newspapers, the need for the Brown Act regarding secrecy in government, how newspapers are meeting the challenge of radio and television, federal control of newspaper advertising, and advertising pressures on newspapers.

THE NEWSPAPER of today is changing — and has changed — drastically from the product the public received even five years ago, the forum agreed.

"We no longer hand set type," said Witnyk. "We don't even sit at a linotype and set it. We have punched tape that sets itself."

"Photographs in the paper are no longer made through the expensive engraving system. We have a Fairchild machine now that transfers images to plastic at great reductions in cost."

"Advances," he continued, "are happening now — all around us."

Schooss said that newspaper associations are "working wonders" in research on developing improvements for newspapers.

"We have to improve to stay in business," he said.

Ault said that TV had shoved newspaper to these advances and Hays observed that newspapers still involve a "great capital investment."

CHARGES OF BIASED, inaccurate reporting were leveled against The Desert Sun by Councilman Mary Carlin during the question and answer period audience participation portion of the program. Brandishing copies of The Sun, Mrs. Carlin cited an instance in which her dog was referred to as a cat and another in which her name was omitted from identification of individuals in a group picture.

Publisher Schooss answered by stating that he had heard these charges from the councilwoman for months; that phrased as they were they were slanderous; and that he would listen to no more without proof.

Sun reporters against whom the charges were leveled were not present to hear them or defend themselves.

THE "BATTLE OF THE DATES" came in for considerable discussion, some humorous and some heated. Editor Phil Ault of the Indio News defended the position of some La Quinta residents in protesting against a Palm Springs dateline on an Eisenhower visit to the desert. Other panel members pointed out that the Palm Springs dateline was one generally known throughout the world and that La Quinta and other nearby resort areas were largely unknown and valueless as datelines elsewhere in the country.

Other panel members joined in expressing hope that the various resorts in the area would not dissipate their strength by fighting among themselves over the issue.

recommendations are made to the lawmakers.

GOVERNOR BROWN recounted his conference in Washington Thursday with President-elect John Kennedy, whom he urged to set a White House Conference on Narcotics.

"I firmly believe the conference will be called," the Governor said, explaining that Kennedy could make no commitments prior to appointment of his attorney general, and conferences with other key administrative personnel.

ON THURSDAY, A series of speakers delineated California's narcotics situation and some answers to the mounting problem.

Wayland L. Speer, assistant commissioner for the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, issued the strongest indictment of California's problems when he lashed the state's legislators for "recidivism" in enacting laws strong enough to curb the mounting traffic.

He said "little has been done on the state level" and pointed out that "in a conference held by state legislators in Los Angeles only last week, to the astonishment and consternation of everyone present, a state Assemblyman stated he had opposed narcotic mandatory penalty legislation at the last session of the Legislature and would again oppose such legislation in the coming session."

ATTORNEY - GENERAL Stanley Mosk, who has battled vigorously for encompassing anti - narcotic legislation, again emphasized the need for enforcement officers to be supported with laws that will meet the menace, not side-step it.

Specifically, Mosk called for the association to support and campaign for:

— Strengthening of minimum laws.

— Protection for informants.

— Requirement of registration for a five - year span following any narcotic conviction.

— INTRODUCTION OF night search warrant procedure.

— Introduction of revocation of driving privilege for persons convicted of narcotic offense.

— Extension of search laws to include any property or items that are "available" to a suspected narcotic offender.

— Permission to conduct wire tapping in "extreme" situations. The meeting concluded yesterday.

Backstrand Spurs State Traffic Drive

Senator-Elect To Participate In Ike Conference

California's battle against mounting highway accidents through traffic safety studies and action in the State Legislature will get the national spotlight with participation of State Senator-elect Lee Backstrand in a special meeting of The President's Committee for Traffic Safety being held next Tuesday and Wednesday in Washington, D. C.

BACKSTRAND, now winding up his fourth term as Riverside County's assemblyman, is an original member of this committee through appointment by President Eisenhower. As chairman of state legislative committees he has been a leader in traffic safety efforts and studies.

Backstrand was asked to participate in the coming Washington, D. C. meeting of The President's Committee for Traffic Safety by Chairman William Randolph Hearst Jr. who called the session in an attempt to step up safety efforts everywhere to forestall a serious increase in accidents as anticipated traffic volume mounts during the coming decade.

IN ATTENDANCE will be representatives of official groups, citizen leaders and technicians who will conduct a reexamination of the committee's official Action Program in the light of research developments and to revise it to the extent necessary.

The California Assembly's Interim Committee on Transportation and Commerce headed by Backstrand is currently engaged in a factual study of state functions bearing upon ownership, use and operation of motor vehicles and the relationship of these factors to traffic safety.

Fairless Spouse Loses Jewels

Mrs. Benjamin Fairless, wife of the former president of U. S. Steel Corporation, reported to Palm Springs Police today that she lost $9,550 in jewelry — probably on Palm Canyon Drive — late last month.

The report, made for insurance purposes indicated that Mrs. Fairless discovered the jewelry missing about 10 days after Thanksgiving as she was walking down Palm Canyon Drive. Included were a platinum diamond and sapphire bracelet ($4,000 value), a platinum diamond calibre bracelet ($3,750 value), a pair of pearl and diamond eardrops ($1,000 value) and one diamond cross ($800 value).

Det. Lt. Robert White said that under California law, a "reasonable attempt" must be made to find the owner of found property. "Failure to do so will result in a theft charge, in this case grand theft," he said.

He said that the loss was reported for insurance purposes here.

Watch Out

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—If you consider your office a safe place, look around. The Minnesota State Medical Association says it's the little things that cause accidents. It warns particularly about over-balanced posture in chairs; file drawers that haven't been closed; sharp objects in a waste basket; pencils behind the ear; entering or leaving an elevator while reading; and telephone cord "booby traps."

CREDIT CARD GOOD—BUT USER WASN'T

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — For Tony G. Guisto, 43, luck had run out.

Guisto pulled into a service station Thursday, ordered the attendant to "fill it up" and then handed him a credit card. The attendant took one look at the card and called the police officer at the corner directing traffic.

The officer, Robert R. Smith, quickly arrested Guisto on a charge of theft.

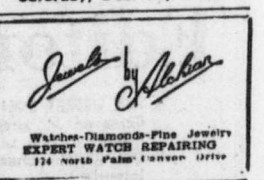

The reason: The credit card belonged to Smith. It had been stolen from his auto a week before along with $115 worth of batteries and tires.

Goals for Americans

PART II GOALS ABROAD

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Because of the importance of the report of the President's Commission on National Goals, The Desert Sun is carrying it in its entirety. This is another in the series.)

13. THE DEFENSE OF THE FREE WORLD.

The Soviet Threat

Communist aggression and subversion threaten all that we seek to do both at home and abroad. Consequently, the maintenance of our independence and way of life, as well as our concern for the freedom of other nations, require the most effective counter measures.

The power and opportunities of the Sino-Soviet nations are such that it will be a major task to prevent their expansion in the coming decade. Nevertheless, we must never lose sight of our ultimate goal: to extend the opportunities for free choice and self-determination throughout the world.

We must stand firm wherever, as in Berlin, our commitments and interests are squarely opposed to those of the Soviets. At whatever cost, we must maintain strategic and tactical forces of sufficient strength to deter the Communist powers from surprise attack and to cope with military aggression even on a limited scale. A secure deterrent is essential. We must meet Communist military threats used for political purposes. We must be ready to make the sacrifices necessary to meet the rising costs of such military capabilities.

We must also meet subversion by cooperation with other nations, by direct help on request, and through economic programs which, in addition to other purposes, reduce conditions favorable to subversion.

Nonetheless, we should try continually to find a basis for mutual tolerance and reduction of tensions. We should enlarge personal and cultural contacts.

Communist China

Communist China's blatant hostility to the United States makes it especially urgent to strengthen our Pacific defenses and our ties with our Pacific allies.

Over the next decade, Communist China may be more aggressive than the U.S.S.R. Within a few years, Peiping may have the capacity to produce atomic weapons. Its strong conventional forces and rapid industrial progress already exert great impact in Asia.

Our policies in the Far East must include maximum cooperation with Japan in solving its difficult economic problems, continued support for the Republic of Korea and the Government of the Republic of China, programs of military and economic assistance to the free nations of South-East Asia, major assistance toward the economic development of India, and the maintenance of our own military forces.

Military Alliances

For the common defense, we must maintain and strengthen our military alliances. Our commitment to NATO in particular must remain firm. We should encourage the trend to greater military integration among the European members and the assumption by them of greater responsibilities. Our other military alliances and relationships in the Middle East and Asia must likewise be reaffirmed and strengthened. The Organization of American States must continue to have our unstinting support.

In support of these alliances, and in a few nations not covered by them, the United States must continue to furnish military assistance. To the extent that other nations gain strength, and local dangers diminish, it may become possible to reduce such aid. But major reductions are not in prospect. In some instances, our military aid is essential to progress toward political stability on an increasingly democratic basis.

Communist-dominated areas.

In nations subject to Communist domination or influence, our hope must be that the right of self-determination will ultimately be achieved. Trade, cultural exchanges, and occasional technical or financial aid may be useful policies toward Communist-dominated peoples who are not hostile to us.

14. DISARMAMENT

Since a major nuclear war would be a world catastrophe, the limitation and control of nuclear armament is imperative. Disarmament should be our ultimate goal. It cannot be attained without eliminating the sources of distrust and fear among nations. Hence, our immediate task must be the step-by-step advance toward control of nuclear weapons and their means of delivery, with effective international inspection. A safeguarded agreement to suspend nuclear testing may well be the first step, and would tend to limit the number of nuclear powers.

In view of the complex interaction of arms control and national security, we must organize a major government effort for the study and analysis of political, military, and technical issues in order to provide a sounder basis for policy formulation and negotiation.

The essential condition of any stabilizing agreement must be that neither side be left in a position of significant advantage. Inspection measures providing adequate safeguards must be accepted by both sides, but we must realize that any inspection system will have risks which must be balanced against the advantages of arms limitation agreement.

A real difficulty in progress toward arms limitation is to induce the Soviet Union to overcome its long habit of secrecy. The United States and its allies should emphasize their readiness to accept international inspection, although it will mean a degree of foreign presence and activity that will be novel and distasteful even in our open societies.

15. THE UNITED NATIONS

A key goal in the pursuit of a vigorous and effective United States foreign policy is the preservation and strengthening of the United Nations. Over the next decade, it will be under tremendous strain. However, it remains the chief instrument available for building a genuine community of nations.

This requires constant strengthening of world law, although the discovery and adoption of legal principals common to all or at least to many cultures, through improved methods for making existing international law accessible, and through the further development of the International Court of Justice.

Through various specialized agencies the United Nations does significant work in many fields. It shows increasing effectiveness in technical assistance to new nations, and often assumes a major role in the control of violence and the settlement of disputes.

In a world in social, economic, and political ferment, international violence is a constant threat. Since nations have become so closely interlocked, there is danger that local violence will induce widespread conflict. Without abandoning, in justified cases, our right to unilateral action, the United States should join with other nations in seeking resolution of as many issues as possible through the United Nations, the Organization of American States, and other international agencies.

It must be recognized that the United Nations provides a forum for Soviet propaganda and tactics of dissension, and an opportunity for Soviet vetoes to block or delay free world advances. On occasion, the growing bloc of votes from the new and uncommitted nations may turn a decision in the United Nations against our interest. Nevertheless, we should give the world community, as represented by the United Nations, our steadfast support.

PART III A FINANCIAL ACCOUNTING

Resources are a crucial test of a nation's ability to attain its goals.

At the present time, federal, state, and local governments are spending about $135 billion each year, of which about $99 billion represents purchases of goods and services (as opposed to social security and similar transfer payments.) These totals are 27 per cent and 19 per cent respectively of our total gross national product. We cannot now determine whether this proportion of our national product will be adequate for the role of governments in the Sixties.

The increase in defense expenditures is difficult to predict. National security expenditures, exclusive of veterans' benefits and interest costs due largely to prior wars, account for 36 per cent of the total amount spent at all levels of government. Foreign aid should be raised over the next five years, and there is little prospect for reduction in other national security expenditures.

'These Just Came from Washington'

This Side of The Sun By Phat

Two weeks to go
Then Santa Claus,
That little thought
Should make you pause.

And take stock. Have I got it made or am I putting off that Christmas shopping? How's my mailing? Cards that arrive too late always seem like an afterthought.

Time's a-wasting. It's later than you think.

THIS BEING 1 for Saturday, let's look at the mail. The other day I paid my respects to Daylight Time. Said we didn't need a law. All we had to do to save an hour of sun each day was to start work an hour earlier and quit an hour earlier. Let the clock hands stay where they were.

This brought a communication from a carpenter. "Don't you know there IS a law? And we can't start work an hour earlier?"

HE SAID that whining saws and pounding hammers are tabu before 8 a.m. in deference to the tourists who want to sleep in.

"So how can we start work an hour earlier?" he asked in a logical enough manner.

Well, all right. But being a carpenter and out in the sun all day whacking nails and sawing boards, why does he need to save more sun?

ANOTHER NOTE asked "Why do people always want to run down their home town? When somebody complains about something somewhere else, say that it is worse here?"

"Is that just an urge to argue, to outdo the other guy?" "On the bus the other day two women got into conversation. One, from Imperial Valley, discussed the heat in summer time. 'It gets to 120 lots of times' she said.

"This Palm Springs woman answered: 'Pooh, pooh, that's nothing. It was 123 for five straight days here.'"

"And, Phat, as a long-time Villager, you know that we have never had 123 degrees days (officially) here."

O. K. but until things change, let's not talk about the weather.

NOTED A NEWS Dispatch in a paper the other day which gave rise to some speculation. Man is growing larger where he sits down, this story said. Maybe that's because we've quit walking and do more riding, sitting down.

This dispatch reported that the famous opera house, La Scala, in Milan planned a big improvement job, widening its 13 inch seats.

IT ALSO SAID the army has ordered all pants bigger seat-wise, that the Chicago Transit Authority had specified an extra inch of space in the seats of its new buses.

It added that a boy of 13 tried on a suit of armor worn by a knight of the middle ages — and couldn't make the lower part.

Perhaps in this day of push button inventions we're sitting on it too much.

DICK WEST

Anniversary Arrest

WASHINGTON 11 — Last Monday there were a couple of news items which I have just fitted together to form a rather interesting coincidence.

On that day in North Carolina, federal agents raided a farm and destroyed an elaborate moonshine distillery which was hidden under a pigpen.

ON THAT SAME day in Washington, the Distilled Spirits Institute, which represents the legal end of the hooch industry, celebrated the 27th anniversary of the repeal of Prohibition.

I don't know how the revenue agents got wind of the fact that a still was located under the pigpen. Around pigpens, it's hard to get wind of anything except pigs. It's possible, I suppose, that one of the pigs squealed.

AT ANY RATE, the point I'm trying to make is that 27 years of legal whisky drinking have failed to quench the thirst of many Americans for the illegal variety. When we repealed the 18th Amendment, we by no means put an end to bootlegging.

Moonshining, which provides a means of avoiding state and federal taxes on liquor, is still a big business in America, as shown by some figures I picked up at the Internal Revenue Service.

IN FISCAL 1960, revenue agents arrested 10,389 persons for liquor law violations, smashed 8,290 stills and confiscated 4,274,365 gallons of mash. And these, mind you, are only the moonshiners who got caught.

Although 95 per cent of the violators were nabbed in the South, traditional home of the moonshiner, some of the biggest operators were found in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Yankee moonshiners generally are part of organized syndicates of the type which flourished during the Prohibition era. They manufacture cheap alcohol which is served in mixed drinks in various eastern gin mills.

MOONSHINERS RESORT to all kinds of tricks to hide their stills, the pigpen being only a small example of their ingenuity. Some of them hang dead dogs in trees around their stills to disguise the smell of the sour mash. One still was found in the belfry of a church.

The Revenue Service claims it has been making progress in curtailing moonshine production by clamping down on the sources which supply the raw materials. For instance, in some areas junk dealers do a big business in old auto radiators, which make good condensers for stills.

A revenue man told me about one moonshiner who aroused my sympathy. When arrested, he explained that he was trying to make enough money to pay his income tax.

"THAT'S THE STORY OF MY LIFE" by Box

Dear Abby...

...by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: What can I do about my best friend's husband? He talks about me in his sleep. I swear I never even thought about this man as anything but a friend. And he never once got out of line with me since I have known him.

My friend has told me that she has heard him talking love talk about me in his sleep, so I can't blame her for getting suspicious. I haven't mentioned this to my husband because I don't want to stir anything up. This bothers me a lot and is affecting my friendship with this woman. How should I handle it?

NOT GUILTY

DEAR NOT: The husband of your friend is a victim of his subconscious... and so are you. A man can be held responsible only for what he says when he is awake. If your friend doesn't realize this, there is nothing you can do.

DEAR ABBY: At the age of 19 I was trapped into marrying a girl I did not love. A child was born six months after we were married and I am almost certain that this child is not mine. But I have no way of proving it. We have been separated two years and she had another child. There is not a chance in the world that his child is mine. But she is my legal wife and I have to support it. This girl was no good when I married her and she hasn't changed. I will never live with her. How can I get out of this bind?

TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: You need legal advice and I am no lawyer. It will cost something, but will be well worth it.

DEAR ABBY: I am teaching in the first grade of a public school. When the little boys and girls leave school, they want to kiss me. Is it proper for me to let them?

TEACHER

DEAR TEACHER: Let them. It is a compliment to you.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Abby answers ALL mail.

Letters to the Editor

The Desert Sun

Dear Sir:

Vivid and unforgettable in my mind is a drama of tragedy on the highway I witnessed last Monday morning on the outskirts of Palm Springs.

Silhouetted against the blue of the morning sky were three dark forms as seen from a distance. One lay prone, then struggled to rise. The other two companions hovered near in evident attitudes of concern.

Three dogs returning home from an early morning romp on the desert. Then tragedy struck! One exuberant fellow dashing to follow his companions had rushed into an on-coming car.

The injured fellow, a large, Cocker-type dog cried out in his distress as I stopped my car across the road from him. Another dog of similar appearance along with a short-haired brown dog, crossed the highway and hurried home.

As I drove up, a Greyhound bus stopped holding up traffic so none could do further harm to the injured dog, who still cried out in pain but could not stand.

Because all Greyhound drivers seem to have a more than passing concern for their fellow man and God's creatures as well, the driver, passing through Palm Springs at 9 a.m. on the morning of Monday Nov. 14, set a flare in the road to protect the dog, while I ran toward the Bali Hai Barbeque to phone.

Coming from the rear of the restaurant was a man who worked there. "Don't be upset," he said, "I have already called the officers, I saw what happened."

Returning to commiserate with the bus driver, another man had stopped to join the group. "It always tears the heart out of me to see a dog suffer," he said, while I stooped to speak soft words of comfort to agonized eyes now glazed with pain.

As the little circle of concern and protection poured out their love for someone's pal of a happier day, two young men joined us. "We hit him. We sure were sorry, but he ran in front of the car."

The bus might have been a few minutes late that day, but the Lord will bless that Greyhound bus driver.

There are those who may say, "Only a dog." But have you looked in the agonized brown eyes that question why and plead for reassurance?

A fellow human needs must understand. I prayed this poor fellow whom someone loved very much, though not understanding words, would know the soft tones of assurance I uttered, and know through instinct the love for one of God's so-called "dumb" creatures that filled the hearts of four men and a woman that morning on the highway, who took time out to demonstrate loving kindness in a hurried world. Kindness for a creature, like those of his kind, who seem to demonstrate love and devotion far better than those of us made "in His image and likeness."

Sincerely your,
Etta M. Lively

Remember When...

DECEMBER 10, 1950

Palm Springs Indians moved into the finals of CIF post-season play with a 14-12 decision over Garden Grove.

At Village Market—Short Ribs of Beef, U.S. Good — For Braising or Baking, 29 cents a pound.

From now on it's the Pavilion. That's the name City Council decided to tag on the Polo Grounds structure this week following recent confusion and consternation as to the name of the building. It's no longer the Polo Grounds Playhouse, the dance hall, or the Thing at the Polo Grounds. It's just The Pavilion. Councilwoman Ruth Hardy read the Park Board's recommendation.

DECEMBER 10, 1940

Coincident with the important action of the City Council increasing fire protection by substantial increase of fire plugs, Alvah Hicks, a leading citizen for several decades, ran true to form and dropped into the city's lap two splendid gifts. Without embellishments Hicks got to his feet when the fire plug business came up and offered on behalf of the Palm Springs Water Company a reduction from $3 per month to $2 for each plug in the city. Then he gave the city 15 shares of Whitewater Mutual Water Company stock currently valued at from $100 to $150 per share.

DECEMBER 10, 1930

The R. E. Hazard Contracting Company of San Diego, which has contracts for straightening and widening the state highway to the south of Indio, unloaded two cars of lumber at Coachella this week to go into the construction of their asphalt mixing plant at Oasis.

A survey is now under way to locate sources of radio interference here, which have been numerous.

ONE-TWO MUSICAL PUNCH currently delighting dancers in the Palm Springs Riviera Hotel sends these two bandleaders to the dining room bandstand in alternation. Billy Allen, left, plays dance tempos, while Rene Touzet—dubbed Mr. Cha Cha—plays a steady stream of Latin tempos. The hotel's enlarged dance floor has been taxed by the surge of dancers.

SUSPENSE AND COMEDY are combined in the Palm Springs High School play "Death Takes a Holiday," to be staged at the High School auditorium tonight. Although some stand-ins are practicing the parts on stage, the lead players in the skit are Paula Mindel, Eddie Pernett, Patti Patzner, Sherri Peck, Mari Ann Williams, and Bob Michel. Artists to Compete For Ferrall Program

By GEORGE LAINE

The 1961 season of the Ferrall's Playhouse at Deep Well got under way formally today with the announcement that Mike and Marian Ferrall are inviting all Village and area artists to participate in a competition for the cover of the Playhouse's program.

Roy Hitchcock, vice president of the Desert Art Center, is coordinating the endeavor which will guarantee the artist a seasonal "exhibition" before every attendee at the theater.

THE JUDGES of the competition will be three persons well-known to the art world. They are Vincent Price, actor and leading authority on art history; Walton Titus, a ranking Southland artist himself and an instructor in the Los Angeles City School system, and Henry Wilcoxon, producer-director who has discovered and promoted many young artists.

Already entered in the competition are such outstanding area artists as Wilton McCoy, Gaylord Richmond, Lois Sakin, Sterling Moak, William P. Krehm, Ida Itkin, Sam Fleishman, R. Brownell McGrew, Alex Candedo and Harper Goff. More are expected to be confirmed for entry in the contest.

AT THE SAME TIME, it was also announced that the Playhouse will have not one, but two, programs during its forthcoming season.

The winning artist will see his work appear on both the regular 6 x 9 credits program and a new, 8x11 souvenir program which is to carry photographs and vignette stories regarding the history of the Ferrall's operations here.

Deadline for entry is Dec. 20 with judging to be completed on Dec. 24. All mediums are acceptable. Persons desiring to enter may contact Hitchcock at FA 5-7131 or Joan Wilcoxon at FA 4-1396.

And may the best artist win...

THE BILLY MARX Trio opened at Hilltop last night and simply flipped me.

He played "I'll Remember April" in a manner reminiscent of the Hampton Hawes handling of the same tune and delivered a version of "Bye Bye Blackbird" that would have thrilled even Larry Foy.

Billy has some great medleys—especially the "folk" effort—and gets great aid from bassist Dick

High Budget Idea
HOLLYWOOD IN — Newton Arnold makes his debut as director in "The Answer," for which he also wrote the screenplay and is co-producer.

Although admittedly a low budget picture, Arnold says he hopes to make it with "quality." "By 'quality,'" he explained, "I mean an honest and entertaining picture which presents realistic human emotions in a stimulating way."

Brandt and drummer Porter Thompson. It's a tasty situation for music lovers who ought to get out and let the Marx group know how they feel about it all.

COUNT DE SESSY will launch a series of Sunday afternoon musicals in El Mirador this Sunday with Vega Maddux and Phyla Bedford in vocal roles.

The proceeds are aimed at various charities from week to week and this first one is earmarked for Angel View—in the name of Sam Croce, of Cathedral City, who was burned and hospitalized while repairing a car to be sold at auction for AVCCF.

Christmas carols will also be a part of the program and initial reports indicate a good turnout for the series opener.

NOTES OFF THE CUFF: Johnny Rico, newest addition to the Guadalajara Boys, has a superb voice for the ballads... If you haven't heard him, better do so...

Good sense prevailed and Bill Talman was re-installed as the D.A. on the "Perry Mason" series...

Big deal going out at Allegrini's, also in RM... On Fridays and Saturdays they'll stay open until 4 a.m., which ought to tickle the waiter-waitress-bartender folks along the Blue Chip Strip... An "Allegrini Special Pizza" at 2 a.m. in the morning is a little difficult to visualize... I can't get one down at 8 p.m.

Best steak buy I've seen is the one at Sherman's where you've got a 25 per cent discount simply by showing up between the hours of 5-6 p.m., and ordering... You get a choice of two steaks, too...

MANY-FACETED talents of Eddy Howard and his 15-piece orchestra at Ray Ryan's El Mirador Hotel is the exciting song stylings of Winnie Wilson, above. Billed as the "Blonde Bombshell," Miss Wilson appears in the nightly show the singing maestro presents in El Mirador's new and glamorous Silver Palm Room.

Trinity Baptist To Hear 'Open Your Bible'

INDIO — "Open Your Bible" will be the challenge given by the Rev. George Gulian on Universal Bible Sunday, at 11 a.m. at the Trinity Baptist Church of Indio.

"A few centuries ago men risked their lives to read the Bible, and thousands of Tyndale's translations were smuggled into England, hidden in sacks of flour or bundles of clothing, so determined were men to possess it," Rev. Gulian said.

"Worldwide Bible Reading Sunday offers an invitation to open the Book and translate its message through a vital faith in Jesus Christ into your daily living."

At the 7:30 Evening Worship Service, Rev. Gulian will give a message from Genesis entitled, "Hiding from God."

Views of Christ Is Ball's Sermon

NORTH PALM SPRINGS — At the 11 a.m. worship service of the Community Church of North Palm Springs, the Rev. Dwight Ball will preach on the subject, "Two Views of Christ."

He will show how Pilate's background and outlook led him to say "Behold the Man" while St. Thomas with a wholly different insight said, "My Lord and My God." The sermon will close with the basic question, "What think ye of Christ?"

Oliver Brison of Desert Hot Springs will be guest soloist at the service.

Dr. Blake's Plea Church 'Bombshell'

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Last Sunday morning, a brawny-shouldered Presbyterian clergyman stood in the pulpit of an Episcopal Cathedral in San Francisco and tossed a bombshell into the midst of U. S. church life.

The clergyman was the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, stated clerk of the United Presbyterian Church.

HIS BOMBHELL WAS a surprise proposal to merge four of the nation's largest Protestant bodies — the United Presbyterian Church, the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Methodist Church and the United Church of Christ.

For years, Dr. Blake noted, church leaders have been deploring the tragic divisions of the Christian family. They have been saying that denominational barriers must be broken down, that Christian unity must be achieved.

All right, he said in effect, let's quit wringing our hands and do something about it. We can begin by combining four denominations into one strong, 18-million member church, which will preserve all of the best aspects of our different heritages. Then we can invite other denominations to unit with us.

CHURCHMEN WHO have grown accustomed to snails' pace progress in the unity movement were flabbergasted by the audacity of Dr. Blake's suggestion. Had it come from a man of less eminence, it probably would have been brushed off as an impossible utopia.

But Eugene Carson Blake cannot be dismissed as a visionary amateur. He is the chief executive officer of a denomination that was created by a painfully negotiated merger of two Presbyterian bodies. As a former president of the National Council of Churches, he has been intimately associated with efforts to achieve a measure of unity among churches by means short of a pan-theistic union.

DR. BLAKE KNOWS as well as anyone that there are immense obstacles to the four-way merger he has proposed. But he also knows that these obstacles can be surmounted, if the motivation is strong enough.

That was proved in India, where the same four denominations have already come together in a united church.

Dr. Blake believes that in America, as in India, the time has come when "we can no longer afford the luxury of our divisions."

DENOMINATIONALISM IS indeed a costly luxury. To maintain their separate administrative bureaucracies, their endlessly duplicated boards, agencies and programs, churches are spending hundreds of millions of dollars that might be better invested in their central mission of preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ.

But the spiritual cost of disunity is even greater than the financial cost. As Dr. Blake pointed out, many people have come to look upon the Christian churches as "competing social groups, pulling and hauling, propagandizing and pressuring for their own organizational advantages." This spectacle does not attract people. It is a poor way of bearing witness to the Prince of Peace who said that all men would be able to recognize his disciples by the fact that they loved one another.

DENOMINATIONAL LEADERS have promised to give Dr. Blake's proposal "serious consideration."

Many a gold idea has been considered to death in the past. This attempt to achieve a real breakthrough toward Christian unity is unlikely to get anywhere unless it received prompt, vocal and continuing support from the pastors and lay leaders of local congregations, and from ordinary church members in all four of the denominations concerned.

God 'Preserves' Says Christian Science Topic

"God the Preserver of Mankind" is the theme of the Lesson - Sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Psalms (137:8). "The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple. The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes."

Inspiring experiences of Elisha and Christ Jesus, — healing diseases, feeding the multitudes, raising the dead, — related in the Scriptural selections, are reassuring and fulfill the promises of God as recorded in Joshua. "This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein: for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success. Have not I commanded thee? Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest" (1:8,9).

Dr. Shuster Will Deliver Sermons At Sunday Services

PALM DESERT — Dr. Carroll L. Shuster, Executive Secretary for the California Synod, Southern Area, of the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., will be the guest minister at the Palm Desert Community Church this Sunday morning.

IN HIS CAPACITY as top executive for the Presbyterian Church in Southern California, Dr. Shuster's ministry has enabled him to visit almost every local church affiliated with that body in the Southland, as well as having taken him last year as an observer on a trip around the world where he saw the church at work in Europe, Africa, and Asia.

Duplicate Worship Services will be held at 9:30 and 11:00 o'clock, with Dr. Shuster preaching at both services.

MISS BARRIE HOLDSWORTH, soloist, will sing, "Lo, How A Rose E'er Blooming," a traditional German Christmas carol from the 16th Century, accompanied by Mrs. Billie Stillman, organist. The Sun-

A New Concept of Mobile Home Living
That Will Cater to a Fuller and More
Purposeful Life for All ...

SENIOR CITIZENS

For Senior Citizens who throughout the years have lived an active, useful and successful life "inactive" retirement is not always the best answer. Also, the knowledge, skills and abilities gained through a lifetime are lost to the community. Realizing that there must be a better way, the management has planned and designed Western Village Mobile Ranch to cater to "semi-active" retirement for Senior Citizens. An equipped multi-purpose creative activity shop has been provided. The management will also sponsor and lend assistance to cooperative member groups seeking to pursue parttime remunerative outlets commensurate with their past experience and knowledge. This will enable the Senior Citizens to lead a life that is not only enjoyable and comfortable but also one that is of use to the community and himself.

Mothers Club Has Luncheon at Thunderbird

In keeping with the Christ in Christmas theme which prevailed for the annual Christmas luncheon of St. Theresa Mothers' Club, table centerpieces were slender, white-pleated Madonnas, trimmed in gold and set off by ruffled gold lace on white doilies. The figurines centered white-glittered candles and candles.

The beautiful luncheon party, which was held at Thunderbird Country Club, heard a vocal program by Palm Springs Civic Choir, directed by Harry Tomlinson. This included the following selections, "Citizens of Chaires," "What Strangers," "Carol of the Little King," "Boys Head," "Carol of the Bells," a solo "I Wonder" by Joe Wood and as a closing, audience participation in "Silent Night."

General chairman for the luncheon was Mrs. John Gomes, who was assisted by Mmes. L. J. Clemens, Joe Eicher, John Palmer and Robert White. Mrs. Eugene Bergeron, Club president, presided at the luncheon.

Paul Blatz to Marry in Germany

Mrs. Val Blatz has announced the coming marriage of her son, Paul A. Blatz to Sonya Gerner of Augsburg, Germany and is at present en route to Germany with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rothman of Milwaukee, the prospective groom's aunt and uncle, to attend the wedding which is to take place December 12.

The bridegroom, son of the late Val Blatz, is a graduate of Palm Springs High School and received a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Creighton University, in Omaha. He was commissioned a First Lieutenant in the United States Army and served in Europe from 1958 to 1960. He is now associated with the First Wisconsin National Bank in Milwaukee.

Candlelight Musicales on Sunday

First in a series of Candlelight Musicales, featuring Count de Sessy, will be held in the Starlight Patio of El Mirador Hotel tomorrow afternoon at 4 p.m.

Featured in the program will be Count de Sessy and his violin, pianist Phila Berword, Vega Maddux, prima donna, of the Santa Monica Opera Association, and the Wynne Hammond Songsters.

Teen Angels and Teen Angel Teens will act as hostesses. Guest of honor will be Sam Groce of Cathedral City Rotary Club and proceeds from the Sunday afternoon series will go to him, to help defray expenses incurred when he was seriously burned in an explosion while repairing a car to be auctioned off at a Rotary benefit.

Golfers' Wives See Styles

There was snow on the mountains and fountains were doing a rain dance at Eldorado Country Club, but indoors all was festive for the Palm Springs Pathfinders sponsored style show luncheon Thursday. The affair, which was planned as entertainment for the wives of Senior Tournament golfers, had a last-minute transfer from La Quinta, where it was to have been held poolside.

Presented by Lillian Agar, the show was commented by Wynne Hammond.

Most of the dresses were by Mike Anthony, and except for the formals, all featured elbow length sleeves. It was a parade of beautiful gowns, with probably the most gorgeous, the citron chiffon, all over embroidered with bugle beads and designed with wide scoop neck and bloused at the back. A black and white checked summer ballgown embroidered on white organza, with patent leather belt, was stunning, as was the Italian white sheath, frosted with satin and covered by a slim coat dress. A black silk brocade, with high neck and low cut back ending in a bustle train, was elegant, and had been designed for the Auto Show.

Striking a holiday note was the red silk satin sheath, with bateau neckline, scooped in back, and trimmed with buttons and bows. A short dance dress of bronzed chantilly lace over palest blue satin brought a round of applause.

Noted in the audience were Mmes. Clarence Brown, George Dawson, L. A. Coleman, Rolland Brown and Robert Morrey, who were all at Mrs. John Dawson's table. With Mrs. Norman Waters were Mmes. Jackson Smart, Kenneth Evans, Frank Ryan, William Tevis, Beverly DeFarr, Glenn Doughty, James Garibaldi, Dolph Obergef, designer Jo Copeland, Pathfinders president Mrs. S. P. Manasse and Mrs. William Malouf and her guest Miss Beth Scott of La Jolla.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones had with them Mrs. Joe Davis of Berkeley, Mrs. Charles Thomson of Lafayette, Mrs. Peter Van Otten and Mrs. Brant Caldwell, both of Salt Lake City. Mrs. Nat Rogers presided at a table which included Mrs. George Howard of Palm Springs, Mrs. Fred Cressman of Hollywood, Mrs. Arthur Eckhart of Olympia, Washington and Mrs. Arnold Kontonen also of Olympia.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS were planned for their Christmas Dinner, when Opti-Mrs. Club officials met this week. Those attending the dinner at Laurie's Steak Ranch on December 15, at 7:30 p. m., have been asked to bring a toy or a can of food for the baskets which the Club will distribute. Pictured, from

D.H.S. Toastmistresses Help Get More Lights

Desert Hot Springs Toastmistresses at their last meeting, heard president Betty McGearry report that she had received to pledge of every Toastmistress to personally call at least two neighbors, asking support in the community move to "Put up an extra light." Results are already noticeable, according to Enola Hulbert.

With the topic "Our Narcotics Problem," Topicmistress Helen King started an enlightening discussion.

Lillian Chang, who spoke on the subject from the angle of what is being done in China, won the cup.

Introduced by Toastmistress Betty Lukowski, new members Lillian Chang and Christine Gottlieb, each gave a "get acquainted" speech. A tie was declared and the large gold cup was not awarded at this meeting.

Corresponding secretary Mary Markell said invitations have been sent to Indio, Banning, Yucca Valley and Palm Springs Toastmistress Clubs asking their attendance at the D.H.S. Joint Toastmaster and Toastmistress Christmas Party. This will be held at the Palms restaurant on December 19, at 7 p.m.

D.H.S. Toastmistress will hold its annual Christmas party will be held earlier, on December 15 at 11:30 a.m., with Fern Norton in charge.

Box Social at Elks Lodge

A Box Social will be held at Elks Lodge on December 13, at 7:30 p.m., it was announced today by Carmelita Smith, president of Desert Does. All Desert Does and their husbands and guests were invited to attend, with each member bringing dinner for two in an attractively wrapped box, to be sold to the highest bidder.

Kay Rich is in charge of entertainment, and Gladys Metz is refreshment chairman for the affair which is a benefit for the Building Fund.

JAN KING'S Desert Diggin's

Where Were You Living and what were you doing the summer of 1966??? . . . in Sioux City, Iowa, my mother was preparing to enter Morningside College . . . out in Palm Springs, Calif., a pioneer, "Auntie Pearl" McCallum (now McManus) and her 11-year-old nephew were also thinking of education, but in a different light. They departed the McCallum ranch in search of 3 more children, in an effort to fill the quota of the 15 required children so that Palm Springs could have a school and a teacher. The famous mule team so often seen in old pictures, Judy (pink) and Maude (black) pulled the wagon, making it possible for them to arrive 3 days later at Point Happy . . . (present location of Desi Arnaz' Western Hills Hotel and in the vicinity of where the new Dupont home is being built). There, Auntie Pearl found a young engineer and his wife with 3 children who were eligible to attend P.S. school. Mission accomplished, they departed—the final night of return it was necessary to camp out; but mules Judy and Maude had other ideas—forgetting their fatigue they whinnied and wanted to break away and get back to the ranch . . . the only manner of holding them until dawn was to tie them to the tongue of the wagon. Their campsite??? the present location of Mike Romanoff's "Romanoff's on the Rocks!" . . . Secret Minutes of Kiddy Show

By FRED DANZIG
United Press International

NEW YORK 11 — My personal secret agent has turned over to me the secret minutes of a convention attended by members of "TV Hosts of American Kiddy Shows," or "H.O.A.K.S."

Here are excerpts from the minutes of the last meeting:

THE AWARDS committee presented its achievement plaque to "Happy Charley" Krelbis, proprietor of a beloved, high-rated "Three Stooges" comedy clubhouse, in a major city. In two weeks, Charley personally received 1,142 separate complaints from parents.

"I refuse to dilute the impact of broad, classic slapstick which 'The Three Stooges' have mastered by imparting to their artistry the slightest taint of apprehension," said Charley. He's an inspiration to all H.O.A.K.S.ers.

THE WAYS & Means committee reported encouraging progress in its campaign to push up the "only" price-tag preface in commercials. "Happy Marty" Broadback achieved a monumental breakthrough with a commercial that urges kiddies to ask Mom and Dad for a toy costing "only $49.95."

The committee said it checked and found to be untrue a rumor that "Happy Danny" Knocknee had advertised a toy costing "only $98.95." As Danny remarked, "the report is premature."

THE RESEARCH and development committee reported satisfactory progress in the campaign to maintain quality status by offering our young viewers only high-priced toys. More and more H.O.A.K.S. members are refusing to peddle products costing $1 or less.

The committee also reported on a new frontier for the precious supply of antique film cartoons. Successful experiments have been conducted in merging completely different cartoons in order to create seemingly "new" episodes.

Member "Happy Bobo" Bender, for example, told how he spliced the first part of a "Popeye" cartoon with the last part of a "Betty Boop" cartoon on one of his TV shows. The next day, he blended the left-over sections. Bobo said the youngsters, having seen all the cartoons before, now are having fun trying to figure out what is going on.

IN CONNECTION with splicing, however, the committee suggested that the technique be used with discretion. Intricate splicing may require the H.O.A.K.S. member to supervise the process personally in a projection room. This would mean actually watching the cartoons, a chore that H.O.A.K.S. by-laws prohibit.

The membership committee reported that a charter member, "Captain K," has won several more awards from parent-teacher groups for his superior contributions to non-violent, educational TV fare for children. "Captain K" has consistently ignored warnings about this tendency and the H.O.A.K.S. delegates voted unanimously for his expulsion.

THE SEMINAR on mail offers was presided over by "Happy Norbert" Knockwood. Earlier this year, Norbert called upon his kiddie viewers to send in for membership cards to his "Soda-Before-Breakfast Club." He succeeded in delaying the return card mailings to the applicants for 10 months and 13 days, a new H.O.A.K.S. record.

The convention adjourned on a sad note. The legislation committee reported failure in its attempt to get Congress to pass a bill that would make it illegal for parents to look at shows run by the H.O.A.K.S. members.

THE CHANNEL SWING: Kate Smith is Ernie Ford's special guest for Ernie's Christmas show on NBC-TV, Thursday, Dec. 22... ABC-TV's coverage of the "Tournament of Roses Parade" in Pasadena, Calif., on Jan. 2 will be handled by Bob Cummings and Bess Myerson.

Christmas Gift Boxes Fixed by Coffman's JRC

Nellie N. Coffman Junior High's Junior Red Cross is currently busy on preparation on Christmas boxes for distribution during the holiday.

Six gift boxes are ready for shipment to Riverside County General Hospital for children who will be patients there at Christmas, and another selection of gifts will be sent later to the group of aged patients there who have neither friends nor relatives to remember them.

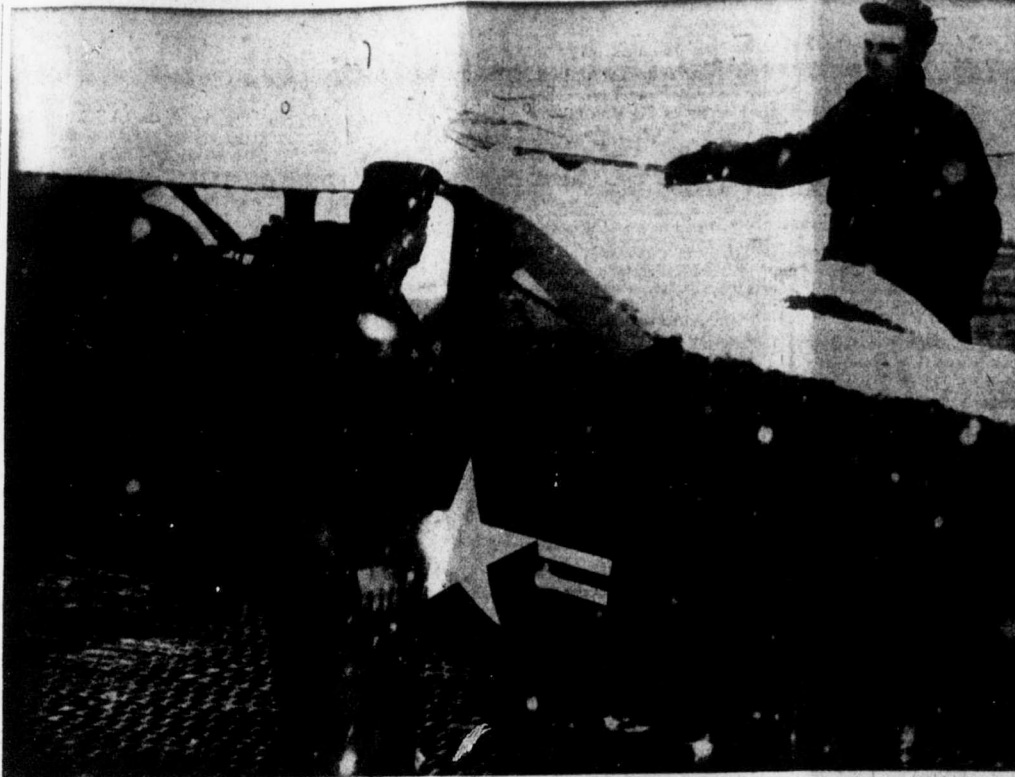

On Thursday, Dec. 15, the Junior Red Cross group will go to Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic at Desert Hot Springs with a Christmas tree and decorations for the waiting room.

The Juniors have also ordered a "barbelle" for the Clinic, an item needed there.

Caroline Marx Home Burglarized

INDIO — Mrs. Caroline Marx, 26, of 90-882 La Paz Road in the Tamarisk Country Club area, reported to sheriff's deputies on Friday that someone had burglarized her home of approximately $1,500 in jewelry plus a camera, sometime between Nov. 26 and Wednesday.

Taken from a bedroom dresser drawer were a $550 strand of pearls; a $250 diamond clasp; a $250 pearl bracelet with gold buckle; $350 diamond studded watch, and a $100 camera.

ROSE PRINCESS IS COLORFUL —WITH MEASLES

PASADENA, Calif. — UP — Pretty Cindy Gillette, 18, selected as princess of the Tournament of Roses, has measles.

Cindy will have to miss some of the parade activities, but her doctor said her case was mild and she probably will be able to ride on a float Jan. 2 in the annual parade.

Just to make sure, the other seven princesses were given gamma globulin injections Thursday to save them from the ailment.

If that's not effective, they all could wind up spending the holiday in bed.

Metz, Congdon Deadlock in Senior Open

SPORTS

in the Sun

Saturday, Dec. 10, 1960 THE DESERT SUN Page 11

Lead by 2 After 36 Holes

Another deadlock marked play in the United States National Seniors Open as almost 400 players entered the third round today at La Quinta, Bermuda Dunes and Eldorado Country Clubs in the fourth annual Open.

In the B game the Rams ran away from the Indians 48 to 17.

Dick Metz of White Plains, N. Y., fired a second round 70 Friday at La Quinta Country Club for a two-day 36-hole total of 143. Charles Congdon of Tacoma, Wash., carded a 71 to add to his first day's 72 to draw even with Metz.

ELDON BRIGGS, of Detroit, one of the first day's leaders, fashioned a 74 yesterday to land in a two-way tie for third with Lebron Harris, Stillwater, Okla., who carded 72.

Paul Runyon, another first day tie at 71, fell back to 77 Friday to trail by five strokes.

JOHNNY DAWSON, Palm Desert, and one of the amateurs favored to take it all, shot a 72 Friday to a four-way tie at 147.

Jimmy Demaret, playing his first senior tournament, was at 48 after two equal 74s.

Willie Goggin, two time champion of the event and defending his title won last year, was 78 yesterday for a 151 two day total.

TODAY THE FIELD goes into the third round at Eldorado, La Quinta and Bermuda and the low 80 scorers and ties will remain in the event for the final 18 of the 72 hole event tomorrow at Bermuda Dunes.

Scores of the leaders at the end of 36 holes:

Dick Metz, White Plains, N.Y.	70-78
Charles Congdon, Tacoma	71-72

Goalby Leading At Coral Gables By Stroke Today

CORAL GABLES, Fla. —

Young Bob Goalby, seeking his second victory in his third year on the tour, defied the oldsters to catch him today as he took a one-shot lead into the third round of the $20,000 Coral Gables Open golf championship.

The 29-year-old Goalby, who returned to the tour last week after being sidelined three months with a pulled muscle, fired his second straight 4-under-par 67 for a 134 total, which moved him one stroke ahead of Wes Ellis of West Caldwell, N. J., and veteran Henry Williams Jr., of Fleetwood, Pa.

ANOTHER STROKE away at 136 came one more of the old heroes, muffled - faced Ted Kroll, while three others at 137 included veteran Marty Furgol and former PGA champion Jim Turnesa and Dow Finsterwald.

Slamming Sammy Sneed led a half dozen who stood at 138, four shots back, after a 34-36-70. And John Barnum, the 49-year-old from Grand Rapids, Mich., who led the first round with a 65, was among those at 139, following a disastrous 34-40-74 on the second leg.

SIX STROKES OFF he pace at 140 came a large delegation headed by leading money winner Arnold Palmer, who shot a 34-38-72.

With him were Tommy Bolt, Chick Harbert, George Bayer and young Johnny Pott, who captured last week's West Palm Beach Open.

Goalby, who hails from Belleville, Ill., and plays out of Crystal River, Fla., was handling a hot putter as he shot his four - under-par 33-34-67. The quiet young man whose only previous win was in 1958 Greensboro Open, holed six birdies with the help of a 12-footer, a 10-footer and two putts of eight feet.

Ramona Wins Over Tribe Cagers, 45-33

Ramona High School's Rams of Riverside ran up their fourth straight win of the young basketball season Friday night when they defeated Coach Jim Workman's Palm Springs Indians 45 to 33 on the winners' court.

The Rams, playing in a higher classification circuit than the Indians, dominated last night's encounter.

THEY GRABBED a 15-18 lead in the first period and were ahead 28-16 at half time. The last half was even, each team scoring 17 points.

Tyrone Taylor, Indian forward, was high man for the game with 18 points. Dag Duran was second man for the Tribe with eight points.

It was the second loss for coach Workman's inexperienced Indians.

IN THE B GAME, the Ram youngsters held the Papoose outfit to six points in the first half, all on free throws.

The Rams have an impressive record this year, their victims in practice games so far including schools of much higher classification.

Last night's scores:

(45) Ramona Palm Springs (33)	(18)

Colts Favored by TD Over Rams

LOS ANGELES — The Baltimore Colts, fighting to stay in the National Football League's western division championship race, were favored by a touchdown to defeat the Los Angeles Rams Sunday.

A Colt victory would keep the Baltimore club in a tie with the winner of today's San Francisco Forty Niner-Green Bay Packer game up north and still in the running for a third divisional title.

Training Camp to Be Topic

Top brass of the new Los Angeles American League club is scheduled to be here this afternoon at 2 p. m. to confer with Chamber of Commerce officials, Mayor Frank Bogert and city councilmen on bringing the Angels here for spring training in 1961.

Bob Reynolds, president of the Angels and Fred Haney, general manager, and probably others of the new club's official staff are expected.

JIMMY COOPER, manager of the Chamber, Friday telegraphed Reynolds inviting him to the meeting at 2 p. m.

"Pursuant to our telephone conversation, our mayor, City Council, Chamber of Commerce representatives will be pleased to meet with you and other team officials on Saturday, Dec. 10 at 2 p. m. to discuss Palm Springs as a training site. Meeting will be held in the Board of Directors Room, Chamber of Commerce, 190 West Amado Road, Palm Springs."

PROSPECT of bringing the new Los Angeles Angels to Palm Springs for spring training were enhanced by the appointment of Fred Haney as general manager for the new American League club.

Haney, one of baseball's top figures, who piloted the Milwaukee Braves to two pennants and a World championship as his final field managerial job, is emphatic that the new team will train in the west.

He told a news conference in Los Angeles this week that Palm Springs is being seriously considered. Other sources said that Palm Springs was the new club's first choice.

HANEY KNOWS the Palm Springs desert area and is a frequent visitor at Palm Desert. Only a few weeks ago he told newsmen of the advantages of spring training in this area, calling attention to the climatic advantages, the big reservoir of southland baseball fans to tap, the nearness of other big league teams in Arizona.

"There are four clubs, two National and two American, training in the Phoenix area," he told newsmen. "They have already told me that they are willing to tear up their present training schedules and deal us in."

"WE DEFINITELY will train in the west. And it could well be Palm Springs."

"After all, we've just received our franchise and there are so many things to be considered before we pick the training site."

HANEY TO NAME Manager Monday

LOS ANGELES — Los Angeles Angels general manager Fred Haney is expected to name by Monday one of four men being considered as field manager for the team.

Observers close to the scene are betting on deposed San Francisco Giant manager Bill Rigney to assume generalship of the Angels, although Bob Elliott who managed Kansas City last year was a dark horse.

Casey Stengel, who guided the New York Yankees into another World Series last season only to lose out to the Pittsburgh Pirates, virtually has been ruled out as a contender.

The fourth possible contender was Leo Durocher, but the former Dodger-Giant manager doesn't appear to be too interested.

PARET GETS 40 per cent of all net receipts, and his purse is expected to approximate $28,000.

Thompson's 20 per cent should approximate $14,000.

Sluggo Federico, born in Panama but an Argentine citizen for the past nine years, is unbeaten in his last 32 bouts. They included two draws.

Thompson is a dangerous hitter, particularly with the left hook he registered 53 knockouts while winning 100 of his 116 starts.

But champion Paret, although a comparative light puncher, has plenty of stamina and speed and ruggedness. He is particularly effective at close quarters. But he has to be careful of Thompson's long - armed bombs as he moves in, although Benny never was stopped in his 42 fights.

FRED HANEY, new general manager of the Los Angeles American League Angels, is at left trying on the warm-up jacket worn by Gene Autry, the new club's board chairman, as Bob Reynolds, club president, looks on.

Start of Play by City Basketball Loop Postponed

Roy C. Grow, recreation supervisor for the city, Saturday said that the opening date of the city Basketball league, set for Tuesday, Dec. 13, had definitely been postponed because of a conflict with the banquet for high school football players scheduled for the same time.

"So many of our basketball players want to attend the banquet honoring the Indian football team that we decided to start at a later date."

"We are also contacting Twenty-nine Palms to reset the game which failed Thursday night. In addition, we have several other exhibition basketball games under plan."

Listed as entrants in the league this year are Laurie's Steak Ranch defending champions, Smoke Tree Stables, Bonnie Electric, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Mr. & Mrs. Masonry, and the Junior All Stars.

Date for start of the league will be announced later, Howard H. Haddock, recreation department said.

Trojans, Bruins Score Victories

LOS ANGELES — UCLA and Southern California, victors over eastern opponents Friday night in a Sports Arena basketball doubleheader, switch foes tonight with the Trojans meeting Kansas State at 7 p. m. and the Bruins facing New York University in the main event.

The Trojans smashed NYU, 86-68, Friday night with a powerful second half surge and UCLA defeated the K-State Wildcats, 83-73.

BDOOKS RIDING HOT

BALTIMORE, Md. — Steve Brooks is riding a hot streak at Pimlico. The veteran jockey bootied home 2 more winners Friday giving him nine for the last three days and a total of 34 for the meeting.

Gil McDougald Quits Baseball for Business

NEW YORK — Gil McDougald, whose versatility as an infielder was only exceeded by his nice-guy attitude, has played his last game for the New York Yankees — or any other major league team.

McDougald said he notified the Yankees of his intention to retire at the end of last season but was told to "think it over."

"At the time, I didn't know if this expansion thing would go through or not," he added. "Now, with the new teams in the league, it would have meant I would be away from home more often, so I decided to chuck it."

McDougald also admitted there was a "great possibility" he was one of the 15 Yankee players who would be made available to the two new AL teams at a draft next week in Boston. The Yankee front office, of course, wouldn't admit this but the new Washington and Los Angeles clubs were ready to make Gil their No. 1 pick.

Pappa's All Heads

ARCADIA — Pappa's All, winner of two $100,000 stakes for juveniles the past season, headed a list of 121 coming 3-year-olds announced today as nominees for the $100,000-added Santa Anita Derby March 4.

Last summer Pappa's All parlayed a victory in the Hollywood Juvenile championship with a win in the Arlington Futurity and then was laid up to await the opening of the Santa Anita meeting Dec. 26.

The long list of nominees included a group of eastern campaigners headed by Harbor View Farm's Roving Minstrel, winner of the famed Champagne Stakes at Aqueduct, and Garwol, winner of the Pimlico Futurity.

I've never seen a merchant go broke by taking a small profit but I've seen them go broke from lack of customers, I personally see that you get the most for your money. When you buy silks, woolsens or cottons from me, I know that my beautiful colors will add sparkle to your face. My motto is, I will speak ill of no one; and all the good, I know of everybody. Any fool can criticize and complain, and most do. No human can ever criticize himself for anything, no matter how wrong he was. Ladies and gentlemen, when bricks are thrown from above, you and I know that "s" one on top will receive the most. Won't you please come in and get acquainted with "Who is this, Jacqueline."

The Situation at Fort Sumter - - - Very Grave

By MERTON T. AKERS

United Press International

The firebrands and the few cool heads of seceding South Carolina already had been summoned to vote on secession when, on Nov. 21, 1860, a middle-sized Regular Army major of artillery, his dark hair shot with gray, arrived at Ft. Moultrie and took command of the U.S. defenses for Charleston.

Even as he hand - counted his garrison force of 46 men and six officers - he did, indeed, have a surgeon and a chaplain and a brass band of 13 in addition - Charleston itself was stoked to the point of spontaneous combustion.

MILITARY COMPANIES, old and new, drilled every night on the cobbled streets. Hoop-skirted ladies forewent teas to sew uniforms and flags. Slave owners counted their chattels against the time when they would be needed to dig trenches and throw up earthenworks.

These sights, which Maj. Robert Anderson saw when he left the steam cars from Washington, must have been disheartening to the 55-year-old Mexican War veteran, a renowned artillery instructor at the Army academy at West Point.

While the forces of secession were mustering, Anderson, if the day was clear, could see his whole command - such as it was - from Charleston's Battery. This command was one fort, equipped with guns but held only by a caretaker; one manned fort (six officers, 77 men, a surgeon and a chaplain), vulnerable and run-down: one unfinished fort, and one in ruins.

IF HE SUSPECTED, as many did, that his appointment had been due to the fact that he was a Kentuckian and married to a Georgia-born wife he had left in the North because of illness, he showed no evidence of it, then or ever. His loyalty to the Union would prove unquestionable.

Anderson had been told by Secretary of War John B. Floyd that he must hold these forts. Floyd was a Virginian. Also, Floyd was trying to sell 10,000 obsolete muskets to South Carolina. But, even so, Anderson may have left the secretary's office with the impression that he would be reinforced.

LT. GEN. WINFIELD Scott, commander-in-chief of the Army, had been bypassed in issuance of Anderson's orders. When Anderson called on the old general in New York before he saw Floyd, Scott was gracious as he always was but told Anderson that any instructions must come from Floyd. Scott had maintained his offices in New York since he had quarrelled with President Franklin Pierce years before.

So the fuse already had been inserted into the powder keg when Anderson arrived on the scene. When it would be set off was anybody's guess.

Capt. Abner Doubleday, second in command of the defenses, thought it would be soon. He was thinking of sending his family north.

NEAREST TO CHARLESTON in Anderson's command was Castle Pickney, about three-quarters of a mile east of the docks on an island called Shute's Folly. It was equipped with heavy guns. Ordnance Sergeant Skillen, his wife and 15-year-old daughter, Kate, were the only inhabitants. Skillen's duty was to oil the guns.

Ft. Moultrie, Anderson's headquarters and the only manned work around the harbor, was on Sullivan's Island about four miles across the bay from the city. It was like a homecoming for the major. Early in his Army career he had served a tour of duty there in the days when Moultrie was known as the "country club" of the Army.

On the west bank of the harbor was Ft. Johnson, another Revolutionary work, which had been abandoned and had fallen into ruin. But there in the center of the channel, like a cork bottling up Charleston, lay unfinished Fort Sumter. Started in 1829, Sumter was built on a man-made island of granite, the "leavings" of New England quarries, a job that consumed 10 years and $500,000. It was a formidable pile. Its plans called for a garrison of 650 men and 146 guns.

But this masonry shell had neither men nor mounted guns. STRANGELY, SOME time before Anderson was assigned to the command, there had been a sudden renewal of interest by Secretary Floyd in the condition of the forts, new appropriations became available and $230,000 was allocated to put the works into good condition, $80,000 to finish Sumter and the rest for Moultrie. Northerners watched this move with some suspicion. Was the Virginian-secretary of War building up the forts so South Carolina would be able to seize a ready-made defense?

Capt. John Gray Foster of the U.S. Army Engineers, 37, West Pointer, six feet tall and bearded, was assigned to the job. Fresh from similar work in Maryland he pitched in with civilian construction crews from Charleston and Baltimore. He had started in mid-September at Moultrie and was well along when Anderson arrived.

OVER THE YEARS a summer resort had grown up on Sullivan's Island and by 1860 nearly surrounded Moultrie. Charlestonians spent the hot summer months in the sea breezes and some lived there year around. Many of the houses looked down on the fort, making ideal perches for sharpshooters to pick off the garrison. Drifting sand had piled against the brick bastions until Capt. Doubleday wrote that a herd of cows could have invaded the fort merely by strolling up the sand dunes. One of Anderson's first orders was to shovel away the sand. Doubleday suggested burning the houses above but Anderson demurred.

FOSTER'S BUILDING activities aroused Charlestonians. They set patrols by land and sea to keep his work under surveillance. Wearing the blue cockades of secession, they strolled about Moultrie watching the progress. Officers of the mushrooming military companies visited the work and made notes. More than one remarked how generous it was of the government to repair the forts before they took over. Even Anderson, normally a close-mouthed man, remarked that the secessionists seemed bent on taking the fort.

Anderson inspected Castle Pickney. Here was a fort he could defend. His guns dominated the city. Then he looked over Sumter.

AFTER THAT HE reported to Washington in terms that would put Floyd on notice.

He recommended: Garrison Castle Pickney immediately to help defend Moultrie which was wide open to attack. Complete Sumter - the key to the situation - and garrison it. Stable reinforcement must be sent soon.

Five other times before the war started Anderson would request reinforcements. He never got them.

(Next week - The wheels of secession begin turning in five states.)

NOB HILL

IN PALM SPRINGS, so to speak, is this charming 4 bedroom, 3 bath Rambling Ranchero in the Caballero Hills, offering one of the most magnificent views in existence, for a price of $44,500 — that includes a swimming pool and complete household furnishings.

TENNIS CLUB

ADDS THAT CERTAIN something to the values and prestige of property owners in this area — so we are pleased to have the exclusive offering of this custom built three bedroom, two bath Residence, entirely walled in for poolside privacy, with immediate possession. Available at a furnished price of only $39,950.

TAHQUITZ RIVER

ESTATES—is a desirable location noted for its spacious homesites, well protected from prevailing winds, convenience to good schools, shopping and transportation. We highly recommend it—and this builder's own home, consisting of a 3 bedroom, 2 bath plan with one of those popular family rooms — all of which is centrally heated and cooled by refrigeration for all year 'round comfort. $36,500.

Richardson Rite Slated Monday At Nokes Chapel

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — Mrs. Cynthia Ellen Richardson, 104-year old resident of 3386 Acoma Street here for five years, died at her home Thursday evening.

The centenarian resident had lived in California 35 years. She was a native of Indiana.

Funeral services for Mrs. Richardson will be held at 11 a.m. Monday in the Nokes chapel in Glendora, with Rev. John Hedwell, pastor of Christ Church, Monrovia, officiating. Interment will be in Oakdale Cemetery, Glendora.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Nellie Golden, Desert Hot Springs; Mrs. Emma Compton, Chicago; and Mrs. Lucy Switzer, Hammond, Ind.; one grandson, and one great grandson. The Desert Mortuary is in charge of arrangements here.

DHS Recreation Parties Slated, Says Ecclestone

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — Herbert A. Ecclestone, chairman of the Park and Recreation District board here, has announced that a series of free public parties will be inaugurated by the board.

Mrs. Marguerite Burmesch has been named coordinator for the program. She will enlist cooperation of civic organizations for volunteer hosts and hostesses for the affairs. Card parties will be the first of the series.

Fresh milk continues to lead beer, coffee and soft drinks for the consumer dollar. Fresh milk sales total nearly $6.5 billion yearly compared to a little over $5.1 billion for beer.

DIRECTORS VOTED FOR PD CHAMBER

PALM DESERT — Six Chamber of Commerce directors here were elected for the coming year in a canvass of ballots of the active membership this week.

Directors elected are incumbents Adrian Schilck, Carl Jensen and Jerry Malone. New directors named are Richard Coffin, Ross Patton, and Charles Potts. Three other directors from the active membership will be nominated from the Retail Merchants Association, Hotel and Apartment Owners Association, and the Palm Desert Real Estate Board. The nominations will be confirmed by the Chamber directors.

The new directors will be called together for a briefing by incumbent president John Moon, and election of new board officers, held at 8 a.m. Dec. 19 in the Eldorado Country Club. All Chamber members are invited to the breakfast installation meeting. Reservations are required through the Chamber office, FI 6-6111.

AT MIRA LOMA EXERCISES

City Sends 11 to CD Meeting

Eleven Palm Springs representatives attended the National Civil Defense Day exercises at Mira Loma Air Force material depot, to participate in setting up a 200 bed emergency field hospital, and receive information on the new radiological detection and disaster rescue equipment on display.

A. G. Kettmann, Palm Springs police chief and director of civil defense and coordinator Lt. Ted Greene, were joined by representatives of Desert Hospital, the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary, fire department and public works department in the exercise.

Dr. Cecil Jones, Desert Hospital civil defense chairman, hospital engineer George Griffin, Dr. William Janus, hospital X-ray chief; Michael Rube, Palm Springs Clinic X-ray technician, and Dr. Alfred G. Huenergardt joined in the radiological demonstrations.

Crow's Feet Cure

NEW YORK (UPI) — To remove a wrinkle in a resin-treated fabric first steam iron the area to flatten and heat the material. Then, apply vinegar with a medicine dropper to the wrinkle while the cloth is still hot.

Dr. H. H. Beebe represented the Palm Springs American Legion, and Mrs. Ellen Biavaschi represented the Legion Auxiliary in the mobil hospital. Battalion chief Chet Goff went from the PS Fire Department, and from public works Adolph Grueneich and Fred Armstrong.
